

Student Handout 4-Pick a Season, Who Needs a Reason

Courtesy of the Pennsylvania State Archives

*"Pick a season, who needs a reason, to ramble out state, with scenery so great,
and happily trod, o'er field made by God."*

This poem was inscribed by Anthony S. Mammarella on the granite marker pictured here. The marker was placed at the Irwin Interchange in 1990. It marked the original western end point of the Turnpike when it opened 50 years before.

Courtesy of Jeffrey J. Kitsko, Pennsylvania Highways