

Student Worksheet 1-"Now for a round-up" a political cartoon in support of the Sedition Act of 1918

Courtesy of the Library of Congress

Before Viewing the Caption:

1. Write down five words or phrases that come to mind.
2. What appears to be happening?
3. Can you guess by the events and concerns in the cartoon during what time frame it was published?
4. What major world event would have been going on during the creation of this political cartoon?
5. What questions do you have after viewing this cartoon?
6. What would you say is the message of this political cartoon?

After Viewing the Caption and Reading Background Information:

7. How has background knowledge affected your interpretation of the cartoon?
8. Now what would you say is the main message of the cartoon? Would you make any changes or make any additional observations from #6?